John Brand, an old Englishman living near Rosine, in this county, died on Sunday last, and was interred at the old Cannon grass yard. He was near seventy-five years old.

Call on Holbrook & Rogers, Buford, Ky., and get the Bachelor brogan.

Mr. John Klein, the cheap stove and tinware dealer of this place, will accept our thanks for favors yesterday.

If the gentleman (?) who carried my coat off yesterday will send my hat and papers back, I will be much obliged if he cannot spare the coat.

Hartford, Ky., Sept. 25, 1877.

The Fall at Owensboro commences Wednesday, October 10th, 1877, and will continue three days. Thanks to Col J. H. Mellory, Secretary, for a complimentary invitation.

Parents have cause to be proud of the good looks of their boys when they are dressed in one of those stylish and cheap suits purchased from Julius Winter & Co., S. E. cor. 2nd and Market St., Louisville, Ky.

New goods of every description, at the mammoth Trade Palace at the foot of the river.

There was a tremendous large crowd in town Monday. When a circus failed to bring 'em you may just mark it down that there has been a death in the family or the whole country is down with the gout.

Mr. J. W. Ford, of this town, has an apple tree that has already borne a crop of apples this season, and is now in full bloom for another crop, but we apprehend that old Grey Beard, Winter, will gather the second crop before maturity.

Julius Winter & Co., S. E. cor. 2nd and Market Sts., Louisville, Ky., cannot cure rheumatism but they can make a good shape out of the most ill shaped person by putting one of their stylish suits of clothing on him.

Mr. E. W. Trounser brought to our office last Saturday a specimen of his present crop of sweet potatoes, which are very large to date. One of the Southern Queen variety, and the others are Bermuda's. We rarely ever see such large potatoes.

The circus Monday caught all the boys, and now you can see them three deep on goods boxes wondering how the "dunce" they will work it on John Robinson when he comes, and then they'll work the old gentleman some way.

A most magnificent free oyster supper was served last Thursday night by Mr. John R. Collins and his handsome clerk, Mr. Pryor Haden. As we don't like 'em much we didn't partake very freely—only three dozen fried, and about the same number raw, while those stewed were "done" in like proportion. Thanks, John, for your remembrance of us.

Read "Hardware" letter and you will get all the news about Fordville. A "chick" like him that feels enough "intense" is a county enterprise like the Herald to furnish it all the items of news, is the kind of man we like if he is a little hard.

Mr. H. J. C. Lindley, of the Point Pleasant neighborhood, many years ago got out a lot of fence posts for his yard and garden. They were of the catalpa wood, and were split in halves and quarters and put endwise in the ground, as fence posts usually are, but strange to say, several of them grew to good sized trees, and are living and flourishing to this day. This is no snake story, but a positive reality.

We are glad to chronicle the accession of another family to our town. The one referred to is the family of Prof. W. L. Hawkins, consisting of wife and daughter, Miss Annie. They have taken rooms at the Lyon House. The Prof. has charge of the school here.

The members of Hartford Lodge of Good Templars were elated last Thursday night by a visit of thirteen members from Hamilton Lodge. We tender the thanks of the Lodge for their presence and hope to be favored with another visit of like manner, soon.

If you will fifty cents expend,
To you the Herald we will send,
To any office you may say,
From now until next New Year's day,
Or, if you will expend at once,
A dollar, we'll send it for six months.
For a dollar and a half, if you don't care,
We'll send it to you one whole year.

Rev. J. A. Humphrey will preach next Sunday at Mt. Vernon church at 11 o'clock a. m.

We invite the attention of our readers to the Educational column of our paper, conducted by Prof. W. L. Hawkins. The column will be interesting to the readers of the county, and particularly interesting to teachers and trustees of schools.

The hazel-eyed and vivacious beauty of Cromwell, Miss Sallie Kahn, is paying Miss Maggie King, of the Hartford House, a visit.

Mr. Sandford Fleckner, of Centerville District, brought to our office a sample of his present crop of tobacco, the largest leaf, measuring thirty-one by forty-one inches. This is next to the largest leaf brought to us this year, the largest measuring thirty-five inches, and raised by Thomas Hamilton.

W. W. Austin was before his honor, W. F. Gregory, County Judge, last Saturday, charged with mistreatment of his brother John, who is a feeble-minded young man. The case was submitted to a jury, who gave Mr. Austin a gentle hint that "he must not do that way some more" by assessing him seventy-five dollars and costs.

Mr. David Rogers, of the firm of Holbrook & Rogers, Buford, Ky., has just returned from the Eastern markets and they are now receiving and opening one of the largest, cheapest and best selected stock of goods ever brought to that market. Their stock consists of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hats etc., and every article usually kept in a first-class store. Give them a call.

Disb. At Fordville, Ohio county, September 21st, 1877, of flux, Joann Josephine, daughter of Barton and Dulcinea Whitley, aged two years and five months. The funeral service will be preached the first Sunday in November, at Mt. Pleasant Church, Ohio county, by the Rev. Charles R. Phillips.

Letter from Princeton.

I am much obliged indeed for your kind notice of my paper—the Temperance Advocate. It is receiving great encouragement. It will be a grand success, I most confidently believe. As "one good turn deserves another," you may add that for two subscribers and $1 I will give as a premium "The Work and Sphere of True Womanhood," by Rev. W. H. Felix, to which you referred in your last issue, and which you had the kindness to state that I am agent. Again, you may also add that I have made arrangements to give a beautiful picture to subscribers for the Advance for one year.

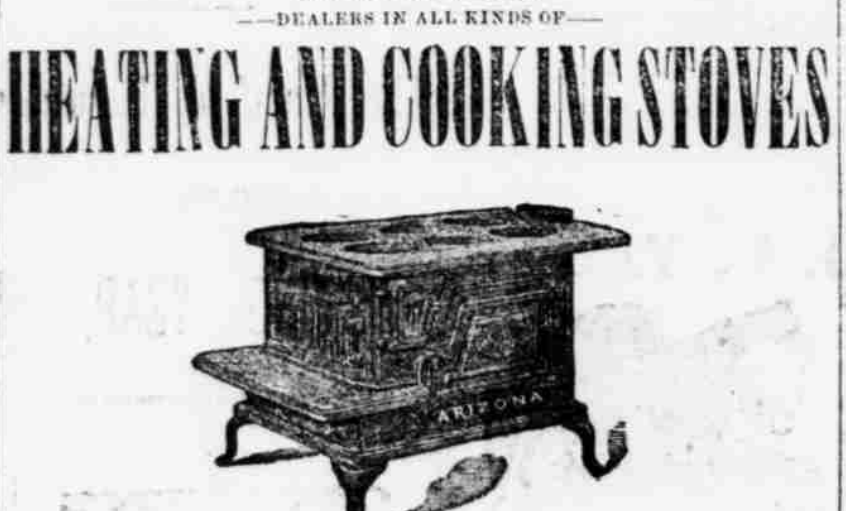

In your little editorial notice of my short but successful visit to Hartford in the interest of my paper, you say I have a host of friends there who wish me success in my enterprise. This I heartily believe. In fact I know it. I cannot be deceived in this. The people of Hartford gave too convincing evidence of their fidelity to admit of doubt. First subscribers less than twenty-four hours! Think! Is this not proof enough for the most incredulous? I only ask the privilege of expressing as best I can (for words are inadequate to fully express) the glowing gratitude of my inmost heart for such kindness. Long live every citizen of dear old Hartford, be that citizen male or female, old or young, black or white. God help them all.

A Start in Business Life.
"Teach your sons and daughters that which they will practice when then become men and women."

All persons interested in BUSINESS EDUCATION should examine into the merits of the EVANSVILLE COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, located on the corner of 3rd and Main Streets, over Drug Store, Evansville, Ind. This is not a college of a "bubble" reputation, but has been in successful operation for twenty-seven years, and to-day it stands as the LEADING BUSINESS COLLEGE of the United States. Everybody is invited to call at the College and examine the mode of instruction and the thorough and Practical Course of study the students receive. It is the only College in the West that is conducted on the ACTUAL BUSINESS PLAN. The patronage of young men and ladies wishing to obtain an education in a short time at a small expense is respectfully solicited. Time to complete the entire course is from three to four months.

THE TELEGRAPH INSTITUTE
Is the most complete institution of the kind in the country; it is first class in all its appointments; is fitted up in the most thorough manner; its instructions are practical; it has more instruments than any telegraph office in the West; its pupils receive the same practice as if in a regular telegraph office; its graduates are competent operators. We will send specimens of plain and ornamental Penmanship, Circulars, Catalogues and Currency issued in our Banking Department, to any one sending the address of fifteen young men of his acquaintance. The address of each young man must be written plain, giving full name, post office, county and state.

Fordville Items.

Fordville, Ky., Sept. 22

Fordville is not so large as some cities I have seen, but a very nice little village, and the people sociable and kind.

We have three stores—dry goods, groceries and drugs, and all seem to be doing a very good business. One saddler's shop, carried on by Mr. T. J. Smith; also a blacksmith and wood shop. Three regular practicing physicians, who have won the confidence of all who have been so unfortunate as to need their aid.

The sale of intoxicating liquors is prohibited here, therefore we have a sober people, and Fordville will doubtless improve. The new vacant blocks will perhaps at no distant day be occupied by enterprising men, who will help those who are here to make this one of the most business places in Ohio county.

Several deaths have occurred at and near Fordville recently. A great deal of sickness in this vicinity.

Several of our good citizens have recently been reminded that the bankrupt law is still in existence.

Mr. H. T. Ford, living near this place, has an almanac that was printed in the year 1834, and a chair that was made in the year 1801, making it 76 years old, and, strange to say, every joint is strong and solid.

Mr. Rothchild, of Owensboro, passed through Fordville a few days ago, with dry goods and notions, which he was selling very low. He and Mr. J. T. Smith are very intimate friends. I wonder why Mr. Smith refused to take a little today with his old friend this time.

I regret to chronicle that Mrs. Dehney Gaine has been very low with typhoid fever for some time, but under the kind treatment of Dr. Lightfoot, it is hoped she is convalescent now.

BAER BRO'S & CO.

To The Public.

We propose to resume, on Wednesday, November 7, 1877, the publication of the Frankfort Commonwealth, and as Independent Newspaper. This journal is to be issued Weekly, and will contain thirty-two columns of matter, comprising, in condensed form as possible, all the important news of the day; state of the commercial world; with such comments upon public events, State and National, as may be suggested by the interest of the people; and will favor all internal improvements, which we believe to be beneficial to the State at large.

The Commonwealth will be essentially a newspaper, and not an organ. It will ally itself distinctly with no party, but, while supporting such men and measures in the existing political organizations as appear to be deserving popular approval, it will as readily and independently censure and condemn either or both, where the facts warrant such a course to be most proper. In a word, the Commonwealth will endeavor to foster and represent as faithfully as possible the best interests of the people of Kentucky, in the new age that magnifies the individual welfare of every citizen of every party.
